[illegible] are coming in very [illegible] places. In all larger [illegible] working. Vote light [illegible] falling off from last year affect[illegible] nearly equally. In St. Paul Gen. [illegible] running ahead of his ticket, [illegible] by Judge Van Aubrey in [illegible] for supreme judge is re[illegible] About half the ticket will be [illegible] democratic. Hubbard, Rep., [illegible] ahead of his ticket in the first [illegible] districts and behind in [illegible] is that his gains and [illegible] each other, and that he and [illegible] ticket will be elected by a [illegible] reduced from last year. Returns from 81 towns, [illegible] 200 precincts, in the state show a [illegible] gain of 2550.

[illegible] Mississippi.

[illegible] Nov. 8.—Yazoo county gives a demo[illegible] estimated at 1200, only about a one[illegible] polled. The colored vote was very [illegible] they are in the majority on [illegible] The indications are that R. F. [illegible] republican, is elected sheriff. [illegible] Nov. 8.—The election passed off quietly. [illegible] It is almost impossible to de[illegible] but is believed that Lowry, dem[illegible] and the democratic state ticket, [illegible] county by a small majority. The [illegible] is very long and there has been much [illegible] it will probably be several days before [illegible] is given.

[illegible] An Election Row.

[illegible] Miss., Nov. 8.—Four white men were [illegible] severely wounded by negroes to-day [illegible] in this county. The negroes [illegible] the whites at the polls while the elec[illegible] on. The whites had no arms, and [illegible] no damage was done the negroes. One [illegible] killed was A. T. Harvey, democratic can[illegible] county assessor. The sheriff with a posse [illegible] found about one hundred negroes [illegible] in a dwelling house with their leader Ed [illegible] they were fired on by the negroes as they [illegible] the house. Another armed body of [illegible] from here to the scene, to assist the [illegible] Otherwise the election in this county was [illegible]

[illegible] In Virginia.

[illegible] Nov. 8.—The election to-day [illegible] contested and a full vote polled. About [illegible] of the colored vote was cast for the demo[illegible] the readjusters have made an equal gain [illegible] in the counties of Louisa, Spotsylvania, [illegible] and King George, probably the readjusters [illegible] a senator, electing also three delegates [illegible] [illegible] to 9:30 P. M. sixty-one voting pre[illegible] were heard from, including fifteen [illegible] which give John W. Daniel, demo[illegible]crat for governor, 10,480, Wm. E. Cameron, readjuster, 8725.

The gains and losses to be estimated in these dispatches are upon the presidential vote last year. This comparison shows a very small gain for democrats in the precincts heard from. The democrats will have to overcome 13,000 votes in the state to elect the state ticket.

Norfolk gives Cameron 458 majority, a readjuster gain of 39.

Danville gives Cameron 42 majority, a readjuster gain of 39.

In Staunton Daniels majority is 568, a democratic gain of 52.

Fredericksburg gives Daniels a majority of 222, a democratic gain of 522.

Manchester gives Cameron a majority of 155, a readjuster gain of 82.

Lynchburg, Daniels' home, gives him 334 majority, a democratic gain of 493.

Petersburg.—The city has been alive with excitement to-day, though the state election passed off in a quiet and orderly manner. Total vote of city: Cameron, readjuster, for governor, 2171; Daniel, democrat, 1177. R. B. Wilcox for state senator, and Dr. D. F. May and Arnsted Green (colored) for the legislature on the city on the readjusters' ticket were elected by a similar majority. Returns as far as received from adjacent and south side counties give the readjuster ticket a large majority.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Blaine's Expectations.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—Times' Washington special: Blaine will retire from the position of secretary of state at the close of this month. He will remain this winter in Washington and devote himself to preparing to attend the next convention. His elegant house, in the neighborhood of Castle Stewart, is nearly completed. The site is a beautiful one, in the extreme northwest of the most fashionable portion of the city. The building, when completed, will have cost its owner $80,000. The material is a handsome dark red brick trimmed with fanciful stone carvings. The style is massive and in the best of taste. $25,000 probably will be spent in furnishing it, and when completed, as it probably will be by January 1st, the residence will be one of the centers of fashion and in effect of the capital. Mr. Blaine is a princely entertainer, and one of the most popular of all public men who have moved in Washington society. He knows well the full weight of the social side of Washington, through elegant dinners and brilliant receptions, and understands how to cement and strengthen ties made by means of his extreme popularity. For the first time in many years Blaine will occupy a non-official position. No one, however, thinks that this will detract from his strength or popularity. He has large means. By the well informed his wealth is estimated at over $1,000,000. In financial speculation he has always proven as bold as in politics. One of his greatest sources of revenue has been from lucky ventures in coal mines in Pennsylvania. His knowledge of that trade and his intimate acquaintance with its leading men have enabled him, from time to time, to so invest sums at his disposal so as to secure him large fortunes. He is now one of the leading speculators interested in the coal mines of West Virginia. He purchased an interest in the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad several years ago in company with a senatorial syndicate, headed by Senator Davis, of West Virginia, looking toward the opening up of those coal mines. He is the sole residuary legatee of the Garfield administration. He will join this class of his own and carefully prepare for the future, which now looks so brilliant to him. His health which for a time seemed so feeble, is now upon the mend. His eye is bright and clear, and the deadly pallor of his complexion is being replaced by a better tone and a more healthful color. While he will make his headquarters at Washington he will probably at various times, visit different sections of the country. He has in contemplation a trip throughout the south, which may be made within the next year.

Capital Clippings.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Times' Washington special says: The publication of evidence before the treasury investigation commission reflecting upon Secretary Sherman, will have the effect of hastening the investigation that will be ordered by the senate in December. Senator Farley, of California, has specially charged himself with the duty of investigating the Sherman ring in the treasury department. He has placed in his hands certain transcripts of testimony already taken, and will actively push for an investigation when congress meets. Judge Folger will assume charge of the treasury department next Monday. With him at the head of this office congressional investigation will be facilitated in every way, so that the downfall of the treasury ring is now a question of only a few days.

The interests of the government in the Guiteau prosecution are to be intrusted to other hands than the present district attorney. Col. Corkhill of Iowa, the present incumbent and son-in-law of Justice Miller, is to be removed. The record of Charles H. Reed of Chicago, as a successful prosecuting attorney has directed attention to him, and it is not improbable that the position of United States district attorney will be offered to him, although Reed has not been an applicant. Reed has been in the city for some time looking after the interests of certain clients in Chicago before the internal revenue bureau. The office of United States district attorney is exceptional in one way, and that is an incumbent of the office is permitted to add a certain portion of the fees of the office to his salary. This makes the place worth about $18,000 a year.

Sir Leonard Tilley, Canadian minister of finance, is here to consult with West, British minister, in regard to an international copyright treaty.

Thickering, U. S. commissioner to the Melbourne exposition in Australia, is here.

A Report without Foundation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Ex-Secretary Windom, referring in conversation to-day to the alleged difference of opinion between the president and Attorney General MacVeagh at the recent meeting of the cabinet, said while he does not think it proper for him to discuss the nature of the business transacted at that meeting, he had no hesitation in saying the published account of proceedings entirely without foundation. Nothing occurred which would warrant the assertion that there was any exhibition of feeling on the part of either of the gentlemen mentioned. The questions under consideration were discussed in a most friendly spirit without excitement or disagreement, or personal criticism as made by any one. Contrary to the report, the secretary added, the meeting was perfectly harmonious in every respect.

Blaine was the Man.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Tribune's Washington special: It was not Arthur but Blaine who had the controversy with MacVeagh in the cabinet meeting, but it was entirely friendly. Blaine without heat and most courteously taking the position that it was MacVeagh's duty to appear publicly to prosecute the Guiteau case, and that whatever the professional ethics or traditions of the department, hide-bound in red tape might be, the terrible circumstances surrounding the president's assassination required MacVeagh to pay closer attention to the Guiteau case than he had done or was likely to do.

A Novel Reason.

The commissioner of Indian affairs to-day gave an audience to a delegation of Sacs and Foxes, who are endeavoring to obtain the great father's consent to the payment to them of $40,000, accumulated annuities, without being obliged to sign pay rolls as required by law. The reason given for refusal to sign is that it would be disastrous or "bad medicine" to use the names of their wives and children for any such purpose. They offer to append their own personal signatures.

Department Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The senate appropriations committee has, according to direction, set in operation investigation of the contingent expenses of various government departments. Each department is being scanned, and the result will be laid before congress in December.

The Star Route Cases.

In the district supreme court this morning, Brewster of Pennsylvania addressed the court at length in support of letting information stand, making a close legal argument. He made the same point made by Bliss that while it were more desirable to proceed by indictment found by grand jury, the necessities of the case rendered the filing of information perfectly proper and legitimate. He characterized the pending motion as an effort to shirk and sneak out of observation, and an effort made on the part of a man whose honor was impeached by his being charged with official embezzlement and public robbery. In concluding, he said: "Neither my colleague nor myself, your honor, stand in the law. We wish, on behalf of the government, no precedent established in this case that will become a plague to you hereafter and hindrance to fair administration of public justice. We wish law as we inherit it. It was and is declared to us law as it is given to us by the statute, to be maintained. We wish to force no remedy against these men. We have no lack of other complaints if you should now in your wisdom, representing law and nothing else, disregard all emotional and sympathetic appeals, determine that the information from any cause whatever that is apparent to you, or manifest to you, improperly presented set it aside. We have done our duty, all we can in this respect; but to this business there are other and grave offenses of greater magnitude than this that are piled up Pelion on Ossa which we will present according to those forms of litigation and by those methods of proceeding of which the defense seems so solicitous to secure in due time to do away with all that will be done; but that which we have done we do assert, I stand here to maintain, to have been done legally according to due form of litigation known to common law, and sanctioned by the constitution, authorized by statute and maintained by adjudication.

ACCIDENTS.

A Logger Drowned.

KALAMA, Nov. 8.—A logger named Jerry Hudson, living near Oak point, W. T., aged 25, was drowned this afternoon at five o'clock, by the upsetting of his boat, while towing some logs alongside a ship. A boat was lowered at once, but the unfortunate man, being encumbered with gum boots, was rendered helpless and he drowned before assistance could reach him. Deceased was a single man and highly respected in the community. The body has not been recovered.

Kicked to Death.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 8.—A Paducah special to the Courier-Journal says: Yesterday evening on the farm of Mr. Fardue, four miles from Paducah, a six-year-old son of Widow Edwards was playing near a mule that was hitched in the yard when the mule turned and kicked the little fellow in the forehead, splitting open his skull and scattering his brains in every direction. He died instantly.

Railroad Accident.

PORT JERVIS, Nov. 8.—A terrible accident occurred on the Erie railroad, ten miles from here. The engines of two freight trains descending the mountain, collided, killing Conductor Geo. Derr, Jerome Grever, and Mark Corson. The trains were badly wrecked. There was an engine at both ends of each train.

Fatal Explosion.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—Particulars are received of the explosion of 400 pounds of powder last night in the Quincy mine near Hancock, Lake Superior. The mine was badly wrecked and great damage done. The killed are Wm. Jimoels and Ole Oleson, miners, and Geo. Meyer, a boy.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Personal Mention.

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—Andrew Marshall Porter, queen's counsel, succeeds Wm. Johnson as solicitor general for Ireland.

John MacHale, archbishop of Tuam, is dead.

The "Times" on Fair Trade.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Times replying to arguments of fair traders drawn from the progress of America prints a long comparative statement tending to show the trade of Great Britain has increased even more wonderfully than the increase of American imports, especially in articles such as grain, for which America has natural advantages, and to which she gives no protection. The Times estimates the money and trade loss to America through the decline of her shipping at £16,000,000 yearly, and considers the increase of severity, in American competition with European agriculture certain, and the question whether it is wise to permit this dependence on a single foreign country is, it says, one which may force itself on the attention of public men.

Saved from the Sea.

Another boat containing 27 persons from the Dutch steamer Konigdor Nederlander, which foundered on a voyage from Batavia to Amsterdam, was picked up and the survivors landed at Dondra Head. Four boats with 129 persons are still missing. They have now been a month on the Indian ocean and their provisions must be exhausted.

Changes at Venice.

A correspondent deprecates impending changes at Venice. He says he is assured the syndic and prefect having control of municipal affairs have determined to fill up the smaller canals and convert them into streets. Gondolas are threatened with absolute extinction, owing to recent concessions to the steamer company on the Grand canal. Through competition gondoliers have been reduced to a state of great poverty. It is openly stated their masters received 30,000 francs as the price of their acquiescence in the changes.

The Lefroy Case.

MAIDSTONE, Eng., Nov. 8.—The trial of Arthur Lefroy for the murder of Gold came to a close to-day. The court room was densely crowded. A remarkable number of women were present. Lord Chief Justice Coleridge's summing up for the prosecution was strongly against the prisoner and tended to throw discredit on a point on which the defense relied, that Lefroy had not pawned a pistol and showed entire disbelief in the prisoner's assertion that a third person was present in the railway car at the time of the murder. The prisoner was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. After sentence had been passed Lefroy protested his innocence.

Ready for a Strike.

HANLEY, Eng., Nov. 8.—In various towns of Staffordshire the potteries are on the eve of a gigantic strike. All men connected with the operatives' association are resolved to cease work Thursday, unless an advance is granted.

Fair Trade Motion Rejected.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—At an influential meeting of the central chamber of agriculture to-day, a motion in favor of fair trade was rejected.

The French Cabinet.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Gambettist organ, Le Pays, says the current rumors relative to competition in the cabinet are premature. On resumption of debate on Tunisian affairs to-day in the chamber of deputies, Noquet reproached the government for concealing the truth regarding the expedition, and disorganism of the army, rather than incur unpopularity by resorting to partial mobilization on the eve of the elections. He declared that in accordance with parliamentary tradition no member of the present cabinet could take office under the new minister. LeFaure, republican, severely criticized the military administration of Gen. Favre, and particularly his neglect of sanitary measures.

Theatrical Agent Missing.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The sudden disappearance of a well known American theatrical agent in this city with a number of lyric artists for the season in Havana has caused considerable anxiety among friends and parties interested. There being nothing to explain his disappearance, murder or suicide is feared. The police having been placed in possession of facts are making active search.

A Large Band.

TUNIS, Nov. 7.—The insurgents number about 50,000 fighting men, and a march is necessary in an almost unknown country before the French can come up with them.

Troublesome Remarks.

ROME, Nov. 8.—The Opinione says: In spite of the extenuating explanation of Count Von Kallay, King Humbert's visit to Vienna must be regarded as a late ministerial repentance for irredentist agitation and not as an important diplomatic success. A semi-official telegram is published stating that Count Von Kallay, Austrian minister for foreign affairs, expressed great regret at their success. An inexplicable version of his speech to the Hungarian delegation has been published at Vienna; that he repeated his declarations that the friendly relations existing before his royal visit were thereby demonstrated, and that in future there would be nothing asked or feared from either side in the relation is between the two countries.

VIENNA, Nov. 8.—Correspondents apparently think that Count Von Kallay's remarks were in some degree as first reported. The affair has created a bad impression.

Action Condemned.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—Liberal organs condemn the introduction of military law in Bosnia and Herzegovina without consulting parliament. They consider it equivalent to final annexation of the province and extinction of the last remnants of the sultan's authority.

A Subject for Diplomacy.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Kreuze Zeitung says the meeting of the Emperor Francis Joseph and King Humbert is made the subject of diplomatic communications. Representatives of Italy and Austria are empowered to give the respective governments to which they are accredited identical and most satisfactory assurances in regard to the interview.

Liberal Gains.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—In the second ballot for member of the reichstag, Dr. Falk was victorious at Worms by a sweeping majority. Most of the second elections up to the present time have resulted in favor of the liberals.

An Ample Supply.

MADRID, Nov. 8.—In congress to-day, the minister of finance stated the treasury would have at its disposal by the beginning of 1882 means for paying 176,000,000 pesetas required for issue of new rentes.

A Socialist Victory.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

In a fair way of Settlement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The war between the Pacific Mail, Union Pacific and Panama railroad in regard to freight traffic and head money seems in a fair way of settlement. At an informal meeting of the representatives of the three corporations held this afternoon, T. W. Park said that he felt authorized to promise, in behalf of the Panama railroad company, that no objection would be made to any reasonable terms of peace. He suggested that a committee be appointed to arrange a basis of compromise. Henry Hart, of the Pacific Mail Company, said, "I am willing to refer the whole matter to a committee, provided gentlemen are selected as committeemen who will properly represent all interests concerned." After some further discussion it was agreed that the whole matter in dispute be referred to the following gentlemen for adjustment: T. W. Park, J. B. Houston, Henry Hart, Sidney Dillon and C. P. Huntington. The committee were instructed to present a report at an adjourned meeting to be held Monday next.

Advance of Freights.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Vanderbilt lines announce an advance of 5 cents per 100 pounds on grain and provisions to seaboard, making the grain rate 25 cents and provisions rate 20 cents.

An Extensive Transfer.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—A deed just recently issued by the St. Louis and San Francisco R. R. Co., for $30,000,000 was filed in the recorder's office here Saturday evening. The deed was given to the U. S. Trust Co. of New York, is on the entire line of road and its property, and not only covers all present indebtedness of the road, but all future extensions and branches. The present debt of the road is $15,000,000 for which new bonds will be issued at once, and the remaining $15,000,000 will be issued as required for construction.

The Pacific Mail Contract.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—At a meeting of representatives of the Panama railroad, Pacific Mail and Union Pacific yesterday one of the persons said it was very doubtful whether a new contract could be made which would be at all satisfactory to the steamship company. On the other hand Russell Sage remarked that if any one thinks he can wipe out the Pacific Mail he is mistaken. We will all take partners for the dance then.

THE TURF.

Jerome Park Races.

JEROME PARK, Nov. 8.—Three-quarter mile, Startle won, Marathon 2d, Constantia 3d; time 1:20½.

A bad track to-day. The 1-mile dash was won by Bonnie Lizzie, Gen. Monroe 2d; time 1:22.

The 1½-mile dash was won by Vira, Marston 2d; time, 2:02.

Oregon Branch of the Union Pacific.

This road is progressing far more rapidly than has been supposed. The following, from the Salt Lake Tribune, shows the present status:

From Granger up the river the road is completed over forty miles, and already crosses a number of big coal beds, which crop out at various places along the road. The first forty-five miles of the road is of a very even and gradual grade, the work of Crismon & Weber, contractors, and is quite smooth for a new road, some of the track being of steel rails. The road is nearly completed to the divide, which instead of being surmounted, is being tunneled, the length of which work is something over 1600 feet. The grading on the other side of the tunnel is completed to near Soda Springs, a distance of about 100 miles, and the bridge timbers are now on that grade being delivered. It is expected that work on the tunnel under the supervision of the company itself, will be completed in the course of a few weeks, after which the construction all will extend its operations to the Bear river side of the mountains.

Full of Politics.

The newspapers are filled with political matter and final appeals to voters. So far as Brooklyn, New York city and the state are concerned both parties are hopeful. The struggle also in New Jersey bids fair to be close.

An Immense Business.

Never in the history of the New York postoffice, has there been such an amount of matter sent through it as during the last few days. The increase is due, of course, to the political campaign. On Saturday, 820,000 2-cent postage stamps and 400,000 stamped envelopes were sold. This represents a total of 1,220,000 pieces sent through the mail for delivery in this city. Postoffice officials who have been in office most all their lives say that in no previous election were so many circulars sent through the mail. In fact, they say that in this year three times as many circulars have been mailed as any other election in the history of the country.

Our Coast Defenses.

The Times says of the recommendation of the naval board, that fifty new vessels be built: The proposed fleet would be all but useless for coast or harbor defense, some provision for which is obviously our most pressing need. The necessity for supplying forts and big guns is more urgent than any such reorganization.

Stowaways brought Over.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Four stowaways (soldiers) arrived here to-day from Kinsale, Ireland. They were discovered when four days out, and the captain wanted to put back and land them, but the soldiers, with the aid of some sailors shipped in Kinsale, refused to let him to so, and he was obliged to keep on his course.

A Notable Exhibit.

The Damage by Flood.

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 8.—The water recedes here very slowly and it will be several days before such branches of business as have been interrupted can get back into their natural grooves again. All the open country lying between the north end of Suy levee and South Quincy, is to be levied as soon as work can be done and the damaged levee repaired. Many estimates have been made as to the amount of damage by flood, but the following are most accurate: entire losses in Warsaw, drainage district $600,000, in Indian Grove district $750,000, in Suy Island district $1,000,000, in Quincy city and the city $300,000; in and about Alexandria, Mo., $250,000, to Keokuk and St. Louis railroad $100,000, to all other railroads $60,000, to open lands north of Suy levee and immediately south of this city $150,000, making a total of $3,095,000. The full extent of loss can only be gauged when the river has returned to its banks.

Flipper's Trial.

GALVESTON, Nov. 8.—In the Flipper case yesterday defense endeavored to show that in the treatment of Lieut. Flipper while in the guard house cell, and in close confinement in the guard house, Col. Shafter was prompted by a spirit not warranted by custom of the army. The court objected to this mode of examination, on the ground that it had nothing to do with the offense, if any was committed, and it was not within its province to mitigate the punishment. The objections were withdrawn finally.

Col. Shafter then stated as the officer relieving Flipper from the commissary department that he thought him perfectly honest and of good habits, and if money had been stolen it had been by some one else. He further stated that previous to the investigation of Flipper's administration he had given entire satisfaction. On the 10th of August Flipper was seen in town with a horse and saddle bags, possibly preparatory to a journey. Flipper was ordered back immediately to turn over his funds in hand. Within two or three minutes after entering his quarters some $2000 was found on his desk ready for delivery. He could not say whether it was in the saddlebags when last seen or not. He learned since that he generally kept public money in his quarters instead of the office safe. He had always examined accounts weekly, unless absent.

The Panama Canal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Telegram Boston special: Nathan Appleton, interested with Lesseps in the construction of the Panama canal, says the extraordinary manifesto of Blaine on the neutrality or rather non-neutrality of the Panama canal as far as the United States is concerned, has brought the canal question, which has been rather slumbering for some time, again prominently to the attention of the people, and the rest of the world. The Suez canal has been open about twenty years, and the question of war has never troubled the peaceful movement of ships through its tranquil waters. No nation would attack us. It is easy to see that the isthmus of Panama is practically as near to France, England, Brazil or Japan as it is to the United States. This new route of communication which Lesseps is opening for all nations, not for any one more than for another, will shorten the distance around the world for all nations, and all can use it, but no one can abuse it.

WORK OF THE LAND COURT.

The Landlords becoming Anxious about Reductions of Rents on their Estates.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Alliance's London special says: The Irish land court has given during the last week an equivalent illustration of the spirit in which it intends to administer the land act. Indeed, O'Hagan's definition of a fair rent is such rent as will enable tenants to live and thrive. This was laid down at the opening of the court a fortnight ago, and has since been applied by the assistant commissioners at Belfast with startling results to the rents on the Crawford state, and on the Corrymoney estate at Dungannon, both of which may be called rack rented, and tenants received an average of 18 per cent, one-third all round, the commission expressly stated that neither estate had been managed with the liberality expected, or usual with Irish landlords, hence the reduction is greater than the probable average, but these cases afford an example of what will happen to rack rented estates generally. In both cases the commissioners personally examined the policies, and there is no reason to suppose that the decision will be reversed if appealed, nor is any appeal expected. The decision of the same commission regarding improvements is still more formidable to landlords. It substantially declares that improvements shall be assumed to have been made by the tenant unless the landlord can prove the contrary. This reverses completely the presumption supposed to have been created by the act and will cast the burden of proof on the landlord, disregarding even the law under which the improvements were made. The result is that in fixing a judicial rent, such improvement which in many cases cover a large portion of the value of the property, will be considered as forming part of the capital on which the land rent is entitled to receive rent. The decision has produced something like consternation among the landlords, and will certainly be appealed from, though every step and word proceeding from the land court indicates that it is disposed to hold to its sweeping principle.

The effect is an enormous increase in the business of the court, which before these decisions had shown signs of getting unmanageable. Applications pour in by the thousand and the league organs are beginning to claim this as the result of their new policy. Being unable to prevent tenants from resorting to the courts they now encourage litigation with the view of attempting to block the court. The farmers are waiting for the case having understood from Justice O'Hagan's opening address that the court was to be a tenant's court. At present appearances the court will be called on to readjust the whole rental of Ireland.

The Standard remarks that if the pacification of Ireland is attained, even at this expense, it is devoutly to be desired. The week's evidence indicates that the suppression of the league was effectual. The withdrawal of the cause solicitor, from all cases in the land court has shattered the tenants' confidence. The outrages now occurring are regarded as the natural result of the situation and vindictiveness rather than as evidence of any effort on part of the league to prolong the power by continuing intimidation.

Too Early to Give Judgment.

It is yet too early to give a final opinion of the work of the land commissioners, for after all the real test of the act must be made on the monster estates in the west and southwest of Ireland, where famine occurs in bad seasons and where there are thousands and thousands of tenants paying from £1 to £3 yearly to whom 25 per cent of their rents would be of little or no benefit, yet upon whose holdings landlords have spent thousands in improvements. The number of applications to fix fair rent now before the land court reaches 11,000. The commission which opens in Carnemore, the cradle of agitation, on Monday will have to deal with that phase of the land question which is purely characteristic of Ireland. Landlords are apprehensive, but are awaiting a decision upon some of the well managed estates in the west before giving up the fight.

Echoes from Erin.

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—The police took down the names of all who entered the new rooms of the ladies' land league Monday, with a view to prosecution.

In view of the great evils involved there will be only three more sub-commissions under the land act for the present. Nine additional commissioners are appointed for one year only, the government believing by that time the arrears of work will be removed. Despite the suppression of the land league several local branches continue to meet secretly. A circular has been issued to the police, instructing them to immediately report any meetings proposed to be held for league purposes, though held ostensibly for another object, with a view to the arrest of participators. The executive is considering what to do in regard to ladies' leagues.

Parnell writes that the report printed in the Freeman's Journal of an interview between him and two prominent members of the home rule league Saturday is almost wholly inaccurate and misleading.

Landlords Alarmed.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7.—A large meeting of tenants upon the estate of Sir John Ennis at Athlone, unanimously resolved to demand an abatement of their rents, and in event of refusal they will apply to the land court. Upward of 5000 tenants are on the estate. Landowners view the great reduction in rents that has been made with alarm and apprehend if the same principle is carried out their property will be confiscated to a large extent and numbers of them ruined. They believe the principle of the commissioners, adopted at Belfast, fixing rent, will hold out a premium to the indolent and incompetent farmer and visit indulgent landlords with a penalty.

Salisbury Censures Government.

The marquis of Salisbury, in acknowledging the receipt of expressions of confidence from the Conservative club, censures with severity the past and present policy of government in its treatment of the Irish question, and declares the policy is dangerous to property and the prosperity of the country.

A HOME RULE MANIFESTO.

Appeal to the People of Ireland not to Forget the Days of 1782.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Herald's Dublin special: The following manifesto addressed to the Irish people by the home rule league was discussed at the meeting yesterday:

Fellow Countrymen.—On the eve of the centenary of the accomplishment of Irish freedom, brought about by the glorious band of Irishmen we would be base and spiritless should we acknowledge that the iron of slavery has entered into our vitals and were not stirred at such times to admiration by the deeds of 1782. If the Irish people have not utterly lost the spirit which animated their fathers, they will not fail to make 1882 memorable in their annals for their determined and successful efforts to reconstitute the fabric raised one hundred years ago by the public virtue of Henry Grattan and volunteers, and destroyed in 1800 by the bribes and bayonets of Pitt and Castlereagh. The state of things which prevails in this country would be an eternal disgrace to the worst and most uncivilized government on the face of the globe. In no country of the world except perhaps Russia is there so little liberty left or so much despotism exercised by the ruling executive as in Ireland, in 1881. Thirty-five thousand soldiers and 15,000 police garrison the country. They allow no day to pass without making the people feel that now, as in the day of Elizabeth, Cromwell, and William II., the sword is after all, the argument with which England seeks to answer all that the Irish nation demands. Cannons are planted on public places in our cities, public meetings are prohibited and dispersed, and the police invade even private dwellings to disperse assemblages. Every man's liberty is at the mercy of the chief secretary, acting on the reports of paid spies and informers. Every day numbers of persons of the highest respectability, and many occupying representative positions, are arrested and flung in common jails without trial. Among those deprived of liberty are our members of parliament, one of whom is acknowledged to be the leader of the Irish people, and it would, under free institutions, be prime minister of the country. The possession of arms, the birthright of every member of our free commonwealth is civilly in a facilitated as a crime punishable by heavy fine or imprisonment, it is needless to go through the list of our grievances. It is sufficient to add that in scarcely a matter of public concern in Ireland has the will of the Irish people had its way, and that every department of our business, no matter how little it concerns others than ourselves, is managed by irresponsible and autocratic boards appointed by Englishmen and composed to a large extent of Englishmen and Scotchmen. Despite this, however, we are told that we must be governed by another people and that too for our own sake. Anarchy, it is said, would overtake us if the beneficent retaining hand of England was taken off from us. A more impudent pretence was never advanced.

The directors state that in taking the above action they have been influenced solely by a desire to protect depositors, believing that their assets are sufficient to pay all their claims. They propose to declare a dividend in liquidation at an early day, and thereafter as often as a sufficient amount shall have been collected. There has been no run on the bank and the announcement has caused no excitement.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 9, 1881.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF RIVERS.

From time to time since 1836 the people of the Mississippi valley hold conventions, called for the purpose of inaugurating the improvement of the channel of that great stream and its principal navigable tributaries. The results of the labors of these conventions have generally been, simply, a great deal of discussion, the promulgation of various theories for such improvement, some perhaps wise and others certainly unwise and absurd, and petitions and memorials to congress asking aid in every conceivable shape. The convention which has just closed its labors in St. Louis was called for the purpose "of deliberating upon the question of improving the Mississippi and its navigable tributaries." The call was issued by the Merchants' Exchange of that city in pursuance of a general desire, communicated through the press, emanating from various commercial bodies recognizing the importance of united and intelligent action on a subject of the most vital importance. The magnitude of the commerce of the Mississippi valley, the development and enlargement of its export trade, made up largely in controlling portions of its products, naturally forced upon the people the question of cheap transportation. The call further states that all later commercial and trade experiences have demonstrated that only by the cheap water route can this question be so placed as in its resultant influences to represent and embrace fair profit to the farmer, the manufacturer and merchant—the classes through which all others become participant in the profits of industry. The necessity of improving these navigable streams, and the correlative duty of the general government to give its aid as to a great national work, is derived from a consideration of their functions in the commerce and trade of the country.

The convention which assembled under this call included 600 delegates from various states and territories appointed, some of them by the governors of their respective states, chosen by commercial bodies or sent by the different cities interested. It convened on the 26th ult., and continued in session for several days. After an organization had been effected, an immense number of resolutions were offered, most of them having a direct bearing on the subject to deliberate on which the convention had been called, but a few upon matters that were certainly outside the scope of such a gathering. All these were referred to a committee who evolved from them a series of resolutions expressive of the sense of the convention.

The president of the Mississippi river commission, a body organized under an act of congress of June 28, 1879, submitted to the convention a letter or report, which contains much information as to the best methods of preventing the destruction of property by the overflow of rivers, but does not discuss extensively the question of deepening the channel, a matter upon which the people of this section of the country are now more deeply interested. This report however sets out that in the Mississippi river below Cairo: first, that bad shoals and bars and dangerous navigation are always accompanied by a low-water width exceeding 3000 feet, and, second, that wherever the width does not exceed 3000 feet there is a good channel the year round. In other words, bad navigation is produced by a wide river, and good navigation by a narrow one. The same principle applies to the portion of the river between the mouth of the Missouri and Ohio rivers. The evident remedies for the existing evils are: first, to stop further enlargement by protecting the caving banks; and second, to narrow the stream to a suitable and approximately uniform width at all places where the widths are excessive and the navigation bad. Where the widths are too great the channel will be narrowed by forces developed in the stream itself, through the agency of high permeable dikes placed either longitudinally or transversely to the channel as circumstances shall require. By these light open works, constructed largely of poles, wire and brush, the area to be raised will be converted into a series of silting basins, within which the water, constantly flowing through the [illegible] with diminished velocity, will deposit its heavier materials. In this way the bed of the stream will be gradually raised during the high water season, forming new banks and developing new shore lines for the amended channel.

These methods of improvement have been successfully applied at various points on the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, and are in no sense experimental, except in the details of construction.

The conclusions of the convention are summed up in the resolutions adopted.

1. The great inland waterways prepared by the Creator for the use of the people, are a most important and valuable part of the national domain, free to all, beyond the reach of monopoly, and affording to the whole people that competition in transportation which benefits producer and consumer alike, and further,

2. That cheap transportation is the great necessity of an agricultural people, the indispensable condition of the easy conveyance to distant markets of their staple products, bulky in proportion to value; and

3. That the familiar, economical truth, that the cheapest transportation of such products is by water, is especially applicable to the great waterways of this country, provided the same is kept free from snags, sand-bars, treacherous banks and other obstacles to navigation.

4. That the manifest duty of the general government is to make such improvements to navigable rivers as will permanently secure the safe and easy navigation thereof; thereby cheapening freights, reducing insurance and other burdens and expenses; promoting the vast inland commerce of the nation, and creating new avenues of foreign trade and thus not only inviting increased production and population, but assuring greater prosperity to the whole people. Especially is this duty obvious in view of the donations already made by congress, in land amounting to nearly 200,000,000 acres, and in bonds issued or guaranteed nearly $100,000,000 more, in aid of artificial highways, the property of private individuals, and necessarily furnishing, even at lowest rates, the most costly form of transportation on a large scale as compared with appropriations not yet amounting to $25,000,000 in all for the improvement of 5,000 miles of natural waterways, whose freedom from tax imposed or monopoly is protected by constitutional guarantees, while the cheap service and unrestricted competition they afford is the most effectual corrective of exorbitant charges by any route to the seaboard. That the appropriations for such improvements should be separately made, with due provisions for assuring the people of their faithful applications to the same, and should be adequate to the continued prosecution of work once begun, until the same is finished, so as to avoid the wasteful destruction of work partially completed, by reason of the delay or stoppage thereof for want of sufficient appropriations.

Particular methods by which the proposed improvements should be made were not insisted on by the convention, but wisely left to the decision of the commissioners appointed with special reference to their fitness for such work. Of course the convention enlarged upon the vast importance of the country drained by the Mississippi, over every other, and all other sections. Dividing the whole country into four great drainage systems, it was claimed that the Atlantic coast system contained 204,538 square miles; the Pacific coast system 834,314 square miles; the Northern lake system 685,337 square miles and the Mississippi Valley system, 1,314,000. Admitting this claim to be correct, the importance of the Pacific coast system is readily seen, and as the Columbia river drains the greater and most desirable part of this great system, the improvement of its channel becomes the second great work of national importance, and the duty of the general government to make the improvement ought to be continually urged upon congress and the departments. The convention at St. Louis asks enormous sums, some of the members urging a memorial to congress for an appropriation of fifty million dollars, while the people of the vast region ere long to send its enormous products down the Columbia, ask far more modestly and would have need for far less. One-tenth of fifty millions would do the work for this second great river of the nation. Let unanimous and persistent effort by all interested, continue, until this grand work is accomplished.

INCREASE OF WEALTH.

Formerly when it was shown by statistical tables that the values imported into a country exceeded the values exported, the fact was accepted without question as proof that such country was necessarily becoming poorer. This was part of the doctrine known to political economy as the "mercantile system." It is apparent at once that the whole wisdom of this policy is to sell as much as possible and buy as little as possible—a wisdom which is evidently folly, inasmuch as it is not possible to buy without selling or to sell without buying. After doing fair mercantile transactions both parties are richer than before. Men exchange commodities only on the ground of relative superiority at different points. The notion that a country must so shape its legislation as to make a "balance of trade" in its favor is hurtful, because it leads to restrictions that impede trade. The benefit of exchange between two nations must be shared by both, else there would be no exchange. No nation ever gains wealth by repressing importations for balance of trade. A nation only hurts itself when it prohibits or restricts exchanges which the interests of its people would lead them to make, and which they would make but for hostile legislation.

We have it now from American journals devoted to "protection," which is another term for legislative restriction of exchanges in the way of trade—exchanges which the interests of our people would lead them to seek were they not forbidden by law—that England is growing poorer because there is an apparent "balance of trade" against her. In other words, that because the tables of trade show that her imports exceed her exports, she is on the road to bankruptcy. Some of our philosophers go so far as to say that she must soon change her policy altogether, or go to the wall. That is, she must so shape her legislation as to repress importations and try to make a "balance," which she can only do by adopting the protective system in a form modified to her wants. Of course the fallacy that lurks in this reasoning is employed for the support of our protective system. But it ought to require no deep penetration to discover that comparison of tables of imports and exports is no index to the growth of wealth in a country. For example England is making enormous investments in all parts of the world. These investments have never increased so largely as during the past ten years. Their increase represents in part the growth of the actual, realized wealth of the English people. For every enterprise that promises a return English capital to any amount is always ready. The increase of these investments on land and sea and in every part of the world—representing an increase of English capital which during twelve years past exceeds the entire amount of our national debt—is a sufficient answer to the assertion that England is growing poorer. Her imports are large because her increase of wealth enables her to command and consume them.

Our tariff legislation is based on the theory that it is necessary as a matter of national well-being to force a favorable balance of trade, and that on our degree of success in this direction our national prosperity depends. The illustration from England shows how fallacious this is. Exchange would never be made unless it were for mutual benefit, and the law ought not to obstruct it.

A new iron hopper dredge recently tried on the Clyde excavated sand and mud at the rate of 400 tons an hour, "dumping" the materials into its own hold, which carries 1300 tons. On being loaded it elevated its dredging apparatus, put its screw propellers in motion and steamed away at the rate of 7½ knots to deep water, where its large cargo was instantly deposited through its bottom. This vessel dredges from 5 to 35 feet depth. Besides loading its own cargo it can fill, if required, a fleet of barges on the old system. It is a seagoing vessel and will steam to New Zealand.

The following extract from the Boston Herald, an independent journal, is worth reading. It packs much good sense and sound doctrine in small space: "The right of the senate to confirm or reject appointments is sufficient. To allow the senators to control appointments destroys the balance between the executive and legislative departments. It would be as wise to allow the judiciary or the executive to control legislation."

The large proportion of assets to liabilities in bankruptcies in the United States astonishes English business men. Having read in Bradstreet's that the average so far this year is about 52 per cent., a London paper remarks that "if failures in this country produced so large a composition there would be little necessity" for the proposed new British bankruptcy bill.

The total value of imports and exports for the year ending June 30, 1881, from the Columbia river, was $5,122,135, ranking us 17th in the list of customs districts. This amount will be largely increased during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1882, the exports alone for the Portland district for October amounting to nearly $1,000,000.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, a newspaper of the ultra-protection school, admits that "an opposition to the present tariff is growing up all over the country, and especially is making itself manifest in the strongest republican papers."

Walter D. Davidge, who has been selected by Attorney General MacVeagh to appear with Col. Corkhill in the prosecution of Guiteau, has for a quarter of a century stood, with a few other lawyers, at the head of the Washington bar.

A PEEP INTO FUTURITY.

A Half Hour's Consultation with an Astrologer.

Hearing from a number of people of the wonderful power of Madame Normand as a clairvoyant, an OREGONIAN reporter visited that lady yesterday at her residence corner of Fourth and Oak streets. Ascending the stairs he knocked at the door of her apartments and was politely requested to walk in. Entering the room he was welcomed by a French lady of middle age, who spoke in excellent English and informed him that she was Madame Normand. In a few words he acquainted her with the object of his visit, and assured her that while he was very skeptical as to her divinations as a seeress, still he was open to conviction. Her first action was to take a pack of magic cards and she told him that if he was a married man to cut the cards with his right hand, if single to cut with his left. It is needless to remark that he cut the cards with his left hand. She shuffled the cards and spread them out before her, and proceeded to read the destiny of her visitor. She very truthfully narrated some events in his past life which she had absolutely no means of knowing and which startled him considerably. She predicted many events to come, one of which that he was to be happily married, at which his usual audacity forsook him and he actually blushed. In reply to the question whether she was often consulted, she said; "Oh, yes; there are scores of people who come here, some out of idle curiosity, and others, who implicitly believe in me. Some of the wealthiest ladies and gentlemen in this city have consulted me, and all went away perfectly satisfied with the truth of my remarks. A prominent business man of Portland consulted me two weeks ago, and without ever knowing his name I told him his entire past history. He was dumbfounded when I revealed to him secrets that he imagined were locked up in his own bosom." Madame Normand related many other interesting cases wherein she had given the utmost satisfaction. She is descended from a French family who were famous under the old regime, but who have suffered much pecuniary embarrassment within the last twenty years. The reporter, after remaining half an hour in the parlor, took his leave not a little edified by his visit.

AMUSEMENTS.

MISS LINGARD.—In the character of Mercy Merrick, in the "New Magdalen," which was performed at the New Market last night, Miss Lingard found fine opportunity for the display of dramatic power. Her performance approached a very high standard, and was greeted with frequent bursts of applause. The temptation, the studied deception, the resolve to reveal the truth, the stormy interview with the true Grace, the triumph over her, and the final scene were all portrayed with realistic art. And through all these appeared the charm of Miss Lingard's wonderful beauty and perfect grace—and (this for the ladies) of her beautiful dresses. Almost every scene in the "New Magdalen" centers in Mercy Merrick, and the interest of the audience last night was almost solely with Miss Lingard. The support was not worthy of the star. The orchestra was on a par with the support. Nearly all the dress circle seats and about two-thirds of the orchestra chairs were occupied. "Camille" to-night.

NOTES FROM OLYMPIA.

Matters Legislative and Miscellaneous.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 1.

As telegraphed last evening. House bill, No. 70.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Was taken up yesterday morning as a special order. Notwithstanding the torrents of rain which were falling, quite a number of citizens (many of whom were ladies) were present in the council chamber when Mr. Evans took the floor in behalf of the bill, and for half an hour the gentleman kept his audience almost spell-bound while pouring forth torrents of eloquence on the subject which had been engrossing men's minds and tongues for several days previous. In spite of all that could be done the bill was killed by a vote of 7 noes to 5 ayes.

Mrs. Duniway, however, without showing her discouragement, held a meeting last night in Columbia hall where a respectable audience of probably over two hundred persons was congregated, and in the course of her remarks, after referring to the defeat of the bill she gave it as her opinion that it would be reconsidered on Monday, but I fear that her anticipations will hardly be realized, as the gentlemen who voted against the measure seem to understand fully what they are doing

Sometimes it is said people can be too zealous in their endeavors to carry out a certain point, and I fear in this case it has only been too true, and this seems to be the general impression here.

The following resolutions were adopted at a Woman Suffrage meeting held in Columbia hall last evening:

WHEREAS, The liberty loving women of Washington territory have been looking with longing eyes and waiting with hopeful hearts for an affirmative vote in the legislature upon H. B. No. 70, to confer the elective franchise upon them; and

WHEREAS, We are doomed to temporary defeat through a tie vote on joint ballot of the two houses; and

WHEREAS, We are more than ever convinced that the brains of the voting power are on our side and cannot long remain in a numerical minority, therefore be it

Resolved, That we will gird on anew the armor of freedom, and press on with fresh courage in our endeavors to awaken the understanding of our opponents in the full belief that they will yet be able to comprehend the plain principles of justice that underlie a government that ought to be, but is not, of the people and by the people.

Resolved, That we will be discouraged by no defeat and disheartened by no repulse for our cause is just, and all the hosts of tyranny shall not prevail against it.

Resolved, That the negative vote of a class of men who have no other reason to offer for so flagrant a violation of the laws of liberty and justice than "because!" takes from woman the stigma of obstinacy and makes man an unreasoning animal in her stead.

Resolved, That we hope the imputation cast upon the house by the current story that they gave our liberty bill a majority vote on purpose to give the council a chance to defeat it, is not true, as it is an act of moral turpitude unworthy the sons of women.

Resolved, That our thanks are due to Messrs. Allen, Clarke, Holcomb, Kincaid, Kuhn, O'Neil, Preston, Raymond, Rees, Smith of King, Smith of Whitman, Steen and Taylor of the house, and to Messrs. Calhoun, Evans, Kerns, Sharpstein and Mr. President of the council for their affirmative votes on the Woman Suffrage bill, another manly defense of our cause upon floors where we are denied representation.

Resolved, That we will watch with interest and hold ourselves ready to acknowledge with gratitude any future legislative action that may hasten our enfranchisement, and will gladly include the names of all the members of both houses in our next resolutions of thanks if they will join the noble company of those sons of women who are not afraid to entrust their mothers with the sacred boon of liberty.

TOUGH CHICKEN STORY.

Mr. Irving, the highly-respected landlord of the Carlton house at this place, has on exhibition a chicken which, after being decapitated and scalded in the usual manner, to the great wonder of everybody, rose up and walked, and at the present writing—48 hours afterwards—is about as happy as any other chicken, with the exception of the pain in his head.

MICHIGAN SUFFERERS.

A concert will be given here on Thursday evening next in aid of the sufferers by the late fires in Michigan; and as some of the best local talent has volunteered for the occasion, it is thought that a respectable sum will be realized. It might be well to suggest that the mourning still remaining on many buildings here be packed up and forwarded for the use of the sufferers, and I have no doubt it would be thankfully received.

NOTES.

A few mild cases of chicken-pox have occurred here lately.

It is reported that the famous Fabbri opera troupe will visit this city.

Presentation of a Watch to Capt. Gilkey of the Dakota—Etc., etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW TACOMA, Nov. 8.—On Saturday evening the business men of this city gave a banquet at the Halsted house to Capt. J. F. Gilkey of the ship Dakota, the pioneer in wheat shipping enterprise from Puget Sound ports, and presented him with a splendid gold American watch and chain inscribed "Presented to J. F. Gilkey commander of ship Dakota by the business men of New Tacoma, W. T., for his enterprise in taking hence the first cargo of wheat shipped from Puget Sound, Nov. 5, 1881." The speech of presentation was made by Hon. Frank Clark and was appropriately responded to by the recipient. The large company partook of a magnificent spread, and speeches were made by Capt. Dellon, Mayor Lister, Otis Sprague, Dr. H. C. Bostwick, Theo. Hosmer Chas. Sprague and many others.

The Epidemic.

It is believed that the singular disease prevalent about which doctors disagree is now under control and will be confined to the existing cases, some 14 in number, several of which are supposed to be smallpox. One death occurred yesterday and one to-day, making a total of nine deaths. Since the new charter went into effect Saturday, efficient quarantine regulations are being observed and the health officer says that there is no real ground for alarm.

Flood in Carbon River.

The recent heavy rains have so filled Carbon river that one of the piers of the N. P. railroad bridge near Wilkeson is washed out, and fears are entertained that the bridge will go. A party went yesterday on a special train to repair and secure the safety of the bridge.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 9, 1881.

THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

A young son of Ed. Embler, of Summerville, died recently from the effects of a fall from his horse.

There has been a considerable loss of sheep in the neighborhood of Heppner this fall from a cause unknown.

A section of land under fence, together with two mule teams, were sold on Holdman gulch, Umatilla county, recently for $13,350.

A school house has just been completed in Barnhart gulch, Umatilla county, 24x44 feet with ceiling 11 feet high, at a cost of about $800.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, whose death by drowning in the Umatilla river was recorded a few days since, was 49 years of age and leaves a husband and nine children. Her husband narrowly escaped sharing her fate through heroic efforts to rescue her. He was rescued by Indians who, hearing of the accident rushed to the rescue.

The dead body of a man about thirty years old was discovered about five miles from Ritzville recently, clothed simply with undershirt and drawers. The body was that of a light-built man, with auburn hair, sandy complexion and face recently shaved. The description is in every respect that of Frank J. Woolfenden, about whom some fears were entertained, as he left Sprague some days ago under circumstances which occasioned uneasiness on the part of his friends, they believing that his mind was somewhat deranged.

Western Oregon.

The delinquent tax list of Linn county amounts to only $775.

Ten marriage licenses were issued in Linn county during the month of October.

O. Gross raised on his farm in Lane county 506½ bushels of potatoes of the peach blow variety on one acre of ground.

Mrs. E. Scott, of Mohawk district, Lane county, raised a squash last season that weighs 115 pounds; J. S. Churchill, of the same place, one that weighs 100 pounds.

A tract of 40 acres adjoining the Silverton town site was sold last week for $2000. The purchasers intend to lay the track out in lots as an addition to that thriving town.

A tract of land between the waters of the Santiam and Clackamas, about 30 by 10 miles in dimensions, is covered by a dense forest of larches. The trees grow from 260 to 300 feet in hight, many of them rising 150 feet without a limb.

The new machinery for the Salem mills has arrived and will be in running order at an early day. The capacity of the mills will, when this machinery is running, be 200 barrels per day. The company will build a mill next spring with a capacity of 500 barrels per day, for export only, the present mills supplying the local demand.

Southern Oregon.

Wheat is selling at 75 cents per bushel on the Coquille.

Jerome Knox has been appointed receiver at the Lakeview land office.

Eighteen men are still employed on the breakwater at Rocky Point, Coos Bay.

The heavy rains of last week furnished enough water for mining purposes in several localities in Jackson and Josephine counties.

On account of the bad weather and roads, the stages went on winter time on the 2d. It now takes 36 hours from Roseburg to Reading.

Sol Abraham has secured the full right-of-way for the Oregon and California Railroad Company south of Roseburg for the nominal sum of $1.

J. N. T. Miller and Raphael Moratt, of Jackson county, have manufactured this year 5000 and 4000 gallons, respectively, of wine from their own vineyards.

John Mark, of Applegate, sheared about 1000 lbs of hair from his Angora goats this fall. The hair usually brings about 50 cents per lb in the eastern market.

The early rains have started the grass and volunteer grain throughout Rogue River valley, so that many fields are already clothed in garments much resembling early spring.

Hon. A. L. Waldon, of Josephine county, died on the 30th ult., of consumption, aged 54 years. He was a pioneer of Southern Oregon and had twice represented his county in the legislature.

The government officials recently purchased in southern Oregon twenty-one head of mules and thirty head of horses, paying therefor an average of $125 per head, thus placing a large sum of money in circulation in that region.

The Ester Cobos was the only vessel in the Coquille on Monday of last week, and she was on the beach. Her cargo of lumber was being taken out and preparations made to put her in a position to repair damages and again get afloat.

John A. Hurlburt, O. & C. R. R. surveyor, has gone to the Siskiyou divide to locate and set grade stakes for the railroad extension. Six locating parties are now in the field, divided off into sections of about the same length, who are now engaged in staking out the road.

The following are the transactions of the Roseburg land office for the month of October, 1881: 413 acres sold for cash; 24 homestead entries, embracing 3255 acres; 18 final homestead proofs, embracing 1854 acres; 21 pre-emption filings; 1 timber entry, embracing 54 acres; 1 soldier's homestead filing.

Sanbert & Noble lost their entire winter supply of logs by the recent rise of the North Umpqua. The logs had just been got to the mill a few days before the late heavy rains, and the water came up so quickly and unexpectedly that the boom broke and all it held went down toward the sea. The loss is in the neighborhood of $5000.

A heavy conveyance was recorded last Saturday in the county clerk's office at Roseburg, wherein A. F. Brown & Co. transferred to the Oregon Cinnabar and Silver Mining Co. 10,000 shares of stock in said company and all the right, title and interest A. F. Brown & Co. had in and to all the property once belonging to the New Idrian Cinnabar Mining Co., the consideration paid therefor being $90,300. This is the largest consideration of any deed ever recorded in this county.

Samuel Stevens, of Wagner creek, Jackson county, became lost from his companions, while on a hunting excursion last week. He was out only one night before the neighbors found him, but in that short space of time had become so dazed that he refused to stop when first hailed by the searching party. He soon recovered his mental equipoise and was able to relate the circumstances attending his bewilderment in the mountains.

Sorghum syrup finds a ready sale in southern Oregon markets at $1 per gallon. There are three iron mills already in Jackson county, owned by Messrs. Wrisley & Walker, near Central Point; Messrs. Richardson & Sons, near Ashland, and one on Applegate. The first two named firms have works with a capacity for working fifty acres of cane each in a single year, which will be increased as the business would seem to justify. Walker & Wrisley have this year made 1800 gallons of excellent syrup, and the other firm 1000 gallons. The amount manufactured this year will fall short of supplying the home market.

Washington Territory.

The Chehalis Indian reservation is to have a blacksmith shop.

There are just an even hundred patients in the Steilacoom insane asylum.

The Goldendale office of Wells & Fargo forwarded during the month of October, $6110.

The name of Pleasant valley postoffice, in Whitman county, has been changed to Coin.

A case of smallpox at Spokan Falls, a daughter of Mr. Stafford, terminated fatally last week.

Mrs. Comstock, wife of Sheriff Comstock of Kitsap county, died at Port Blakely on the 28th ult.

Experiments made with sugar beets in Whitman county result in a yield of 5000 pounds to the acre.

A lodge of A. O. U. W. was organized at Spokan Falls last week with a charter membership of 19. It is recorded as Spokan Falls lodge, No. 36.

Five Indians who had died from small pox were left unburied by their companions at Palouse ferry for a week or more. They were finally buried by force under an order from the coroner.

An Indian who had died of small pox was found lying near Platter's place on the Pataha, and was buried by the county authorities, together with all the provisions, blankets, etc., belonging to his wigwam.

The annual school election in Seattle brought out but forty-four voters, nine of whom were women. A terrible rain storm prevailed, which is the supposed cause of the apathy of the taxpayers of the district.

A subscription paper for funds to build a pest house has been circulated in Waitsburg. A sufficient amount was raised, and the building is being erected as speedily as possible in order to be ready for an emergency.

Miss Kittie Conboy, a Klickitat damsel of twelve years, rides 35 miles on horseback, barebacked and alone, and reaches her destination without fatigue. She lately rode 40 miles in one day to attend the fair at Goldendale.

The price of lumber was advanced by the manufacturers in Seattle on the 1st inst. one dollar per each thousand feet. This was found necessary owing to the rise in the price of logs over that obtained a few months ago.

The little steamer Ruby, for a number of years plying between Port Madison and Seattle, has been sold to the Oyster Bay oyster company at Olympia, and will be used hereafter in their business. The price paid was $3000.

The pest house at Tacoma has been fitted up and two patients removed thereto. Dr. Wing has been appointed health officer by the town board with power to remove to the pest house all persons afflicted with this deadly disease.

As D. M. Coonce was taking some cattle from his ranch to Tucannon, one day last week, the horse that he bestrode fell into a well eight feet deep. By the aid of a man and boy he was taken out uninjured. A trench was dug to the well and the horse was also liberated.

The entire receipts of the Klickitat county fair were $1466 25; expenditures, $1751 21, leaving a deficiency of nearly $300. The board of managers negotiated a loan of $300 for one year with interest at 1½ per cent. per month, wherewith to meet outstanding obligations.

The Oregon Improvement Company will break and seed twelve thousand acres of land near Colfax, in Whitman county, next year. The company will divide these cultivated lands into tracts of varying sizes, build houses upon them, and sell them on reasonable terms to immigrants.

Two million feet of logs have been driven down the Newaukum river the last week from Winston's logging camp to Hight's sawmill, the majority of which are cedar logs of the finest kind. The logging camp and mill have, the past season, and will the coming winter, distribute many a dollar which will go into circulation.

Within the past thirty days 3626 bales of hops from the Puyallup yards have been shipped to San Francisco, viz.: Steamship Dakota, two trips, 2255 bales; Idaho, last trip, 753 bales. Several hundred bales are yet awaiting shipment, and a large quantity were left in the railroad warehouse last week, the Idaho being unable to take them.

R. S. More, of Puyallup, raised this year 5646 pounds of hops from a field of five acres, which is below the average production of old plants. He sold the lot at 17½ cents per pound, and realized therefrom $987. The cost of production and picking was $253, and the profit thereof $734. The present price of hops is about 22 cents per pound. These figures, which are below the average, partially indicate the profitableness of growing hops.

The foundation of the Carney academy is finished and is eight feet high—four feet of stone and four of brick. This is intended as a gymnasium when the building is completed. It is expected that the building will receive the finishing touches before freezing weather commences. It will be 36x60 feet, and is situated on a prominence overlooking town.

Specimens of free gold washed out of Michell creek, about one and one-half miles above the junction of that stream with the Nisqually river, are shown in Tacoma. The gold was found in a deposit of black sand, is heavy and bright, and under the glass has the appearance of being recently dislodged from crevices. The discoverer is of the opinion that a rich gold-bearing quartz ledge exists not far from where he washed out the specimens.

The citizens of Colfax in consideration of the threatened visitation of small pox, met last week and appointed a board of health, recommended the closing of churches and schools, the immediate vaccination of every man, woman and child in town, the burning of infected bedding and clothes and the keeping of Indians entirely away from the town limits. There are two cases of small pox in town, one convalescent. Further advices state that the churches and schools have been closed and will remain so until the abatement of the scourge in the neighboring towns.

In advocacy of artichokes as hog feed an Eastern Washington farmer says: Artichokes on good land, with the same cultivation as corn, will produce from 400 to 800 bushels per acre and can be used for pasture the fall after planting in the spring. There is no harvesting—even the work of feeding is avoided, as the hogs will help themselves if allowed to do so. Plow under when they have attained the height of one foot. Plant about the time the first corn is planted, one eye in a hill. Make the rows three and a half feet apart, two feet in the row. One hundred and fifty pounds of artichokes will plant an acre. With good culture and good soil the yield will astonish the owners at digging time.

Dayton Chronicle: Disinfectants are very popular just now and their variety is indescribable. Anything with a strong odor, from an onion to burning sulphur is used and relied upon, as a sure preventive of contagious diseases. Little bags of assafoetida tied to dirty string around the neck, seem to be the most fashionable, the dirtier the string the greater the protection. Of course, all premises should be properly disinfected and all persons should prepare themselves to ward off contagion, but to think of a full grown man carrying a large onion in his pocket as a talisman is ridiculous. Some one has said that superstition and prejudice rule one-half the world and ignorance the other. He was surely right, but to which class belong those who saturate their clothing with perfumery (?) that would sicken a dog. Bad colds are blessings to those obliged to mingle much with their fellows at this time.

Idaho.

Judge D. J. Warner, of Lewiston, died on the 25th ultimo.

Nearly one-fifth of the crops in the vicinity of Moscow were ruined by the early storms.

There is but little doing in wheat. Shippers offer $1 60 and sellers are scarce. No charters reported since last week, but the decline then mentioned continues well defined.

Entered at the custom house to-day—British bark Lindores Abbey, Cotter master, 867 tons, Port Adelaide in ballast.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Wool has continued strong. Choice California sold 43@48c. In California wool there is no improvement. Fall grades are dull and holders of old stock find it difficult to sell. No news has yet been received, and buyers take no interest in the new clip, as high prices are asked for it at San Francisco.

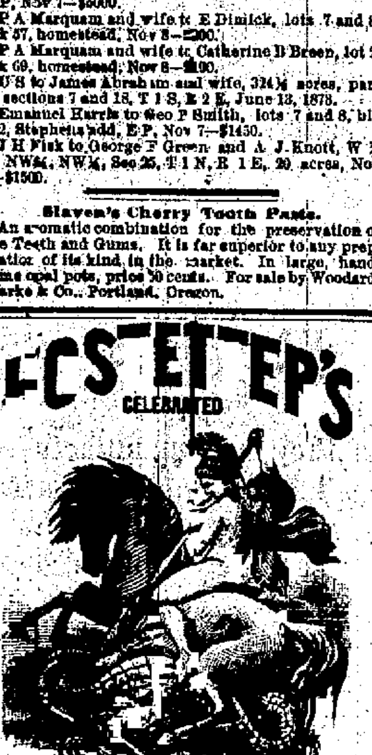
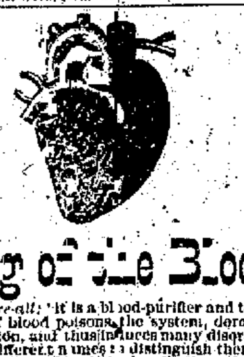
Slaven's Cherry Tooth Paste.

An aromatic combination for the preservation of the Teeth and Gums. It is far superior to any preparation of its kind in the market. In large, handsome opal pots, price 50 cents. For sale by Woodard, Clarke & Co., Portland, Oregon.



One of the Reasonable Pleasures

Of life, a properly cooked meal, affords little or no present enjoyment and much subsequent torture to a confirmed dyspeptic. But when chronic indigestion is combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the food is eaten with relish, and most important of all, is assimilated by and nourishes the system. Use this grand tonic and corrective, also to remedy constipation, biliousness, rheumatism, fever and ague. For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.



King of the Blood

Is not a "cure-all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists. $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

It is an indisputable fact that Hall's Hair Renewer renews, cleanses, brightens invigorates and restores faded or gray hair to its youthful color and lustre, cheaply, quickly and surely. People with gray hair prefer to buy it, rather than proclaim to the world through their bleached locks that they are becoming aged, and passing on to decay.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet the subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Every thing strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.
